

If you attempt to move a shift that falls outside of your account permissions, the shift will move, you will receive an error message and your change will revert to what it was previously.